

A Place to Be Fully Alive

In prayer, study, service, and play

2016 DIRECTORY

Becoming Fully Alive, Together

If a picture's worth a thousand words, the book you're holding is a novel. The people you'll see are its characters. Its plot unfolds in the ministries we carry forward. Thus, this directory offers a snapshot of the living narrative that is Christ's Episcopal Church in Castle Rock.

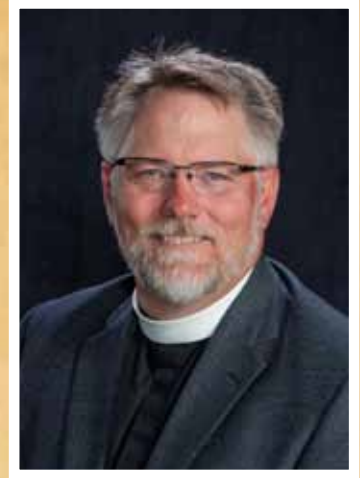

While I'm sure you'll use this directory often to help you put names to faces, I also hope you'll use the information it provides to reach out to someone you don't recognize. You can use this tool to help you get to know the "characters" in our "novel."

If you're looking for someone, but don't find their picture in the book, you can still learn their name: Just ask them, the next time you see them. Ask them about their story, about their journey with Christ, about their life at Christ's Church.

Our mission at Christ's Church is to be a place where we can be fully alive in prayer, study, service, and play. You'll find that mission reflected in these pages ... and I pray that you, too, are feeling fully alive at Christ's Church.

If you're a newcomer, I hope you can imagine yourself here, not only in the directory, but also in our community. All are welcome here. So I invite you to join us in our journey to be fully alive in Christ. We hope we'll see you soon ... on a Sunday, at one of our other gatherings ... and in the next edition of our "novel."

Blessings and prayers,

Praying

Christ's Church prays in the sanctuary, in the yard, and out on the street. We're blessed to have so many creative contributions come together to make worship a festive celebration, or a reflective sharing, or both. On Ash Wednesday, you'll find us on a corner in downtown Castle Rock. The Feast of St. Francis brings our furry friends into the yard for a blessing. While on any given Sunday, you'll find us in the sanctuary celebrating Eucharist.

Studying, Serving, Playing

Study engages all ages at Christ's Church—in a variety of settings, for a range of reasons. First and foremost, we nurture the faith development of our children. Beyond that, we invite our adults to pursue intellectual study, spiritual growth and contemplation.

In addition to bell ringing for the Salvation Army at Christmas, we serve supper to the homeless and bring joy to elders at a local retirement community. (ABOVE)

Having fun is, indeed, integral to being fully alive. Play, too, is sacred. It's renewing. It's a joyful noise offered up to the Lord. It's transforming for all ages. (BELOW)
